Having spent and obligated ourselves for something like a hundred billion dollars in the World war, asking nothing out of it in the way of indemnities or territory, and getting quite what we asked for, the powers America saved from defeat, the payment of indemnities and the loss of territory, are now asking the United States to pay the German war reparations.

Everybody realizes that the debts of the allied powers to the United States will not be paid in full; it is only a question of how much can be collected before the debts get too cold. The reparations debts of the allies to the United States of course bear no natural relationship. The money we loaned France, for instance, was only repaid to the extent of the loans made after the armistice, and was used in the work of rehabilitation.

But when the United States, after refusing to sign the Versailles treaty, join the League of Nations, or collect anything off Germany, proceeded to enter the conference engaged in settling the German war debt, our action began to be used as an excuse for claiming that the debt of the allied powers to the United States was interwoven with and dependent upon Germany's payments to these powers. Thus ill feeling was created against America by our allegedly altruistic internationalists, both in Germany and in the allied nations.

The driving power behind all this manipulation has been the international banking and industrial interests which have placed billions of dollars of American capital in Europe. Since the debts of these powers to the United States are a first mortgage on European wealth, the way to improve the standing of the second mortgages, representing private capital, loaned at high rates of interest, is to wipe out the public obligations to the United States.

If Europe wishes to repudiate her debts to the United States, representing loans that were essential to preventing defeat during the war and economic collapse afterward, there is probably nothing we can do about it. Sending our army and navy in an effort to collect is an unthinkable folly. Many Americans believe that the best thing to do with dead-beat debtors is to wipe their accounts off the slate, and thereafter have as little to do with them commercially and politically as possible.

While the allied powers are proposing that Americans pay German reparation debts, they are at the same time standing in the way of an economic or customs union between Germany and Austria, into which Germany offers to invite other nations. In other words, they are obstructing the effort of Germany to get on her feet and in a position to pay.

America's experience with European implication up to date has been a sorry one; one that most Americans are heartily sick of. Yet louder and louder rises the outcry of the propagandists in favor of deeper political and financial involvement of the United States in what Ramsay McDonald appropriately called "the European mess."

While the demand is made that the United States wipe out these debts, the European powers are spending more and more money on military preparations. France is fortifying her borders against Germany at enormous expense. Released from obliga-

Help Stage "Ford
Day" Here July 10

Friday, July 10, is Ford Day in Campbell. Dunlap & Smiley, local Ford dealers, are putting on a show at which will be seen the late model cars, cut-away chassis showing the working parts of the Ford car, and a picture, "A Trip Through the Ford Factory." The garage, which is located in the first block on West Campbell avenue, will be open for inspection all day long, and the picture will be shown several times throughout the evening.

Local merchants have joined hands to make it a gala event, and nearly every store in town is offering some excellent bargains as "Ford Day Specials." Here careful buyers will have a chance to get some fine bargains, and at the same time be in town for the show, which, it is reported, is well worth while. Page two, this issue of the Press, carries a full list of bargains offered by Campbell merchants for July 10, together with further details concerning the show.

LOCAL BALL CLUB
TRIMS SANTA CLARA
FEDERALS SUNDAY

The Santa Clara Italian Federation was not satisfied with one beating—they asked for another last Sunday, and were defeated by a score of 9-6. The outcome of the game two weeks ago was 8-5.

Campbell failed to score until the third inning in Sunday's game, while the Federation made two runs. The local boys tied up the game in the third and had a one-run lead in the fifth, but were tied and passed in the sixth. Campbell again tied the score in the seventh and in the eighth forged ahead three runs.

Campbell has challenged Mountain View to a series of three games, which should prove to be good, fast entertainment.

FLETCHER-OESER
WEDDING LAST
WEDNESDAY EVE

Frances Fletcher and Paul Oeser were quietly married last Wednesday evening at the Bethel Lutheran church in San Jose by Rev. Emil Meyer. The relatives of the bride and groom and a few close friends witnessed the ceremony.

The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Ethel Fletcher, and the best man her brother, Homer Fletcher. A wedding supper was served at the Sainte Clair hotel followed the ceremony.

Immediately after the supper the couple left on a honeymoon to Yellowstone park and points in Idaho and Oregon, to be gone three weeks. They will visit the groom's relatives on their journey.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fletcher of Central avenue and the groom is the son of Rev. W. R. Oeser of Ashland, Ore. Both are well-known in and about Campbell and have worked at the Mission Hatchery for some time.

On returning from their honeymoon they will move into a house on Rincon avenue, where they will be at home to friends.

tions to America, it will be possible for these powers to enter more extensively into their preparations for "the next war"—a war from which Uncle Sam, if he uses his head, will be conspicuously absent.

France, Alone in Blocking Hoover Moratorium Plan, Is Warned by President—Feat of Globe-Circling Flyers.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

Premier Laval

DAY after day Secretary Mellon and Ambassador Edge negotiated with French officials in Paris in the effort to reconcile the moratorium plans of President Hoover and Premier Laval, and in Washington the President and Acting Secretary of State Castle were almost constantly at the American end of the transatlantic telephone line, coaching them and learning what progress they were making. At this writing the progress, if any, is small. Premier Laval, who was continually receiving the advice and assistance of Finance Minister Flaminio and others, stood firmly on the position he had assumed, and the senate, by a vote of 197 to 5, backed him up, virtually giving him a free hand so long as he did not concede. This huge vote did not indicate that the senate had confidence in Laval, however. He was attacked fiercely and jeered, but the senators had to express their approval of the refusal to give in to President Hoover.

Mr. Hoover then came to bat with a memorandum sent to Ambassador Edge for communication to the French government. This was in effect an ultimatum to France that unless she accepted the Hoover plan she was likely to be left out in the cold. The warning was conveyed that if the President's project failed, Germany certainly would apply for a moratorium on reparations as provided by the Young plan, and this, Mr. Hoover figured, would cost France $100,000,000 more than would the Hoover moratorium. Behind the polite phrases in the memorandum seemed to lie the intimation that if France rejected the Hoover plan, the administration would establish a moratorium on war debt payments and leave France out.

MEANWHILE Premier Mussolini put over what was considered by some a "fast one." His government announced that the Hoover proposal, which had been accepted unconditionally, was in operation, so far as Italy was concerned, on July 1. Italy's debtors, Germany, Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria, were notified that she was not collecting sums due from them on that date; and her creditors, England and the United States, were told she was putting aside the sums she owes them, pending final decision.

The State department in Washington said the Hoover plan had been accepted by Belgium and Poland, both allies of France and by Rumania, and in part by Greece and Yugoslavia. So France was standing alone in opposition. It was believed in Paris that Premier Laval, after closing down parliament, would call a conference of all nations signatory to the Young plan to obtain from them a release from the guarantee clause requiring her, in case of a moratorium, to place in the bank for international settlements the sum of approximately $120,000,000 to be applied in part to increasing payments to be received by other creditors during the period of suspension.

WILEY POST and Harold Gatty, American aviators, set their monoplane, the Winnie Mae, down at Roosevelt field, New York, Wednesday evening. They had accomplished the remarkable feat of flying around the globe, approximately 15,475 miles, in 8 days 15 hours and 51½ minutes, a new mark for other flyers to shoot at. They set out to break the record of 22 days made by the dirigible Graf Zeppelin, and they smashed it to bits. Great skill in piloting and navigating, unconquerable courage and nerve and a plane that functioned perfectly all contributed to the success of this epochal flight. The route followed by the flyers took them from New York to Harbor Grace, N. E.; thence successively to Chester, England; Berlin, Moscow, Novosibirsk, Irkutsk, Blagoveshchensk, Khabarovsk, Solomon and then Fairbanks, Alaska; Edmonton, Canada; Cleveland, Ohio, and back to New York. They met with no serious accident but at times flew through high winds and rainstorms.

New York city on Thursday gave the aviators the usual showy and noisy welcome, with parade, speeches and reception by Mayor Jimmie Walker. But they were too tired to mind this much. President Hoover invited them to luncheon at the White House, and they received the congratulations of eminent persons all over the world. It is estimated that Post and Gatty will realize about $50,000 each from their wonderful flight—and they certainly earned it.

WHAT was the President's national commission on law enforcement and observance, better known as the Wickersham commission, went out of existence with the close of June, and is now just eleven men and women. On Tuesday the fine furniture and equipment were moved out of its offices; after midnight the unexpended remainder of its $500,000 appropriation reverted to the government; and Chairman Wickersham by that time was the only member left in the National Capital.

Sticklers for exactness said the commission will not actually cease to exist until a final history of its activities and expenditures is written and is accepted by President Hoover. In order to attain this end a temporary commission headquarters has been established near the White House, equipped to accommodate only the chairman and a small staff. There the fifteenth report will be written. Here is the commission's record: Ten reports have been delivered to the government printer or deposited at the White House; four others, one of them the still-controverted study of prohibition, have been made public. Since midwinter the commission has completed reports upon the deportation of aliens, "lawlessness in law enforcement," crime among the foreign born, juvenile delinquency, the work of the police, prisons, probation and parole, the costs and causes of crime and a "progress report" upon the work of the courts, to be carried on by private agencies.

J. C. Stone

Hoover's request to the federal farm board for a definite statement of its policy brought a response from the board, through Chairman James C. Stone, in which its policy as announced on March 23 is virtually restated. Plans from the Middle West and Southwest that the board commit itself to keep its immense wheat holdings off the market, either for a stated period or under a fixed price level, are rejected.

One important concession is made. The board agrees to limit sales of its wheat to 5,000,000 bushels a month, this limit to run on a cumulative basis, the unused portions of the quota to be good for succeeding months. But it excepted from this limitation important contracts with foreign purchasers now under consideration.

To the problem of the wheat surplus there is only one answer, and that is acreage reduction, the board declares. Hope was seen for an improved export market in smaller productions in other countries and in the prospect for better world conditions "that will be created by the President's debt plan."

SENATOR Reed Smoot of Utah, chairman of the senate finance committee, has been in conference with the treasury authorities in Washington; and he now says that under the provisions of the Hawley-Smoot tariff law with relation to the products of convict, forced or indentured labor, the Treasury department will adopt a policy of excluding a large share of the products of Russia.

While this exclusion will not apply to products of the soil, says Mr. Smoot, it will apply to Soviet products which are manufactured, mined or produced by means of forced labor of any kind, and which are competitive with products here. He mentions lumber and pulpwood especially as products which will be shut out.

ment began its fiscal year on July 1 with an unbalanced budget. The deficit is almost $903,000,000.

Handicapped by reduced revenues, the Treasury found itself confronted with rising expenditures, due to the government's efforts to help the farmer, the unemployed and the drought sufferers. About the only favorable factor in the financial situation was a cash balance of over $400,000,000 with which the treasury entered the new year. This will be used to meet current expenses during the first quarter instead of being applied to the deficit.

SENOR DON SALVADOR DE Madariaga, the new ambassador from Spain, presented his credentials to President Hoover with due ceremony, and the customary polite phrases were exchanged. SEE and HEAR THE TALKING PICTURE

"A Tour Through the Ford Factory"

Thousands of people from all over the world visit the Ford plant every year. Now this vast industrial organization is brought direct to you by an intensely interesting Talking Motion Picture.

Come and see, here and how America's most popular motor car is built. Only when you see and hear how efficiency, economy and craftsmanship have been put into volume production can you realize how so much extra value can be given in the Ford car without increase in price.

Special Showing of Latest Ford Cars

Don't miss the new Ford De Luxe Body Types. Distinctive in line and color. Smart in their new appointments. Rich and luxurious in their interior trim and upholstery. You will be interested, too, in the reasons why so many manufacturers and stores have chosen the rugged Ford truck and the swift Ford delivery cars.

There are many other features on display that in themselves make this Special Ford Exhibit well worth a visit. You Will learn about the safety of the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, the strength of the sturdy Ford steel-spoke wheels, the comfort of the Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, and the brilliance of the Rustless Steel.

SPAIN is to continue to be a republic, and Alfonso will remain an ex-king, according to the results of the national elections. Alajandro Lerroux, old time Republican leader and at present foreign minister, is the man of the hour and it is accepted that he will be the first premier under the new constitution that is to be adopted by the national assembly that convenes on July 14. The Socialists and so-called radicals will control this assembly, which in fact will be rather moderate in policies. The communists are powerless.
Catalonia still insists on being a separate state in a Spanish federation, but Senor Lerroux predicts that the Catalan movement will soon collapse.

Sec'y Wilbur

RAY LYMAN Wilbur, secretary of the interior, before he became president of Leland Stanford university in 1916, had attained considerable fame as a physician and surgeon, and he demonstrated the other day that he has not lost his surgical skill.
While escorting Secretary and Mrs. Wilbur through Mesa Verde National park V. M. Delerchman, president of a southwestern Colorado transportation concern, fell suddenly ill and was taken to the park hospital. There Doctor Wilbur diagnosed his ailment as acute appendicitis and decided an immediate operation was necessary. So he gathered up the tools and, with the assistance of Dr. E. E. Johnson of Cortez, he performed the operation which almost certainly saved Delerchman's life.
Next day the patient's condition was so good that Secretary Wilbur resumed his trip of inspection of the park.

MARRIAGE of divorced persons in Episcopal churches with use of the Book of Common Prayer is favored in a revised proposal by a commission of the general convention of the church.
Last April the commission offered a plan to authorize Episcopal clergymen to remarry divorced persons. That plan barred the use of church and the regular prayer book. The revised proposal would give clergymen the right to officiate. A minority report suggests marriage by a clergyman at his discretion if there already has been a civil marriage.

Under the majority plan, one year must elapse after divorce before permission to remarry may be filed. An ecclesiastical court, appointed by the bishop of the diocese, must then pass on the fitness of the persons to be married.
The report will be submitted to the general convention of the church in Denver next September.

IN A few days Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley will be on his way to our farthest possession, the Philippines, for an inspection tour of the islands. This is because their administration falls under the jurisdiction of the War department.

While the official War department announcement ascribed the reason for the secretary's trip to a desire "to acquaint himself more intimately with the details of Philippine problems," it was understood that Mr. Hurley would study personally sentiment there for independence in preparation for a movement in the next session of congress to free the islands.

SENATOR Simon D. Fess of Ohio, who is a leading member of the senate committee on interstate commerce, predicts that railroad and transportation legislation of a comprehensive character will be considered during the next session of congress. He has studied these questions closely for years, and probably knows what he is talking about. In his opinion, consolidation legislation will again be taken up, and laws for the regulation of the motor bus and the motor truck will be proposed.

Mr. Fess foresees much difficulty in getting legislation enacted to meet the various transportation problems. This difficulty is much enhanced, as he views it, by the competition between the railroads and other forms of transportation, on the one hand, he feels the country cannot get along without the railroads, but on the other, he is convinced the public will not sanction any undue restriction of other forms of transportation.

The Ohio senator is an advocate of legislation to liberalize existing law with reference to railroad consolidations. He sponsored, in the last congress, the Fess-Parker bill to provide, in effect, for voluntary combinations.

It is interesting to hear, from Senator Fess himself, that he probably will remain chairman of the Republican national committee for another year, despite frequent rumors that he would retire or be displaced. He called on President Hoover the other day and afterward said: "It appears now that I will serve until convention time next year." However, he insisted he had not discussed the matter with the President.

Motorists' Violations Cause Most Accidents

There were 835,250 motor vehicle accidents in the U. S. in 1930. 564,639, or 67.6 per cent, were due to operators not observing the laws. Three specific driving violations
were responsible for 68 per cent of the 1930 accidents:
exceeding speed limit, 120-833 accidents; on wrong side of road, 90,907 accidents, and did not have right-of-way, 173,909 accidents. Other violations responsible for accidents were: cutting in, failure to signal, driving off
roadway, etc.

Violations of motorists
were responsible for 83.8 per cent of all deaths and 66.9
per cent of all injuries.
This is dry stuff all right
but it shows the toll of motor vehicle carelessness. Help curb this slaughter by careful driving—you may "get there"
a little late but you'll arrive in your own car and not an ambulance.

Fewer auto accidents mean lower premiums for your automobile insurance, which,
by the way, should be writ-

CAMPFIRE GIRLS GO TO BIG BASIN FOR SUMMER OUTING

Nine members of a local Campfire group left Sunday
for Camp Wastahi at Big Basin for a two weeks' stay.
Miss Lois Rice is their guardian, and will be with them and instruct them in the work that is done each year
at the camp. Sewing, weaving, swimming, cooking,
carving and all other handicrafts will be practiced while they are there.

Among the party are Betty Thaysen and Mary Shank
from the Mohawk group;
Eloise Samford, Jean Rohan, Dolette Worcott, Jane White-
man, Oliva Valencia, Emily Bohnett and Jacqueline Rohan from the Wetonachick group.

ONE DOSE GERMAN REMEDY ENDS GAS

"I was sick and nervous
with indigestion and stomach
gas. One dose of Adlerika helped. I eat anything now and sleep good." Henry Dodd.

You can't get rid of indigestion or gas by just doctoring the stomach. For gas stays in the UPPER bowel.
Adlerika reaches BOTH upper and lower bowel, washing out poisons which cause gas nervousness and bad sleep.
Get Adlerika today; by tomorrow you feel the wonderful effect of this German Doctor's remedy.— Shadle's

Lost 20 Lbs. of Fat In Just Four Weeks

Mrs. Mae West of St.
Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 yrs. old and weighed 170
lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150
lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water
every morning before breakfast—an 85 cent bottle lasts
4 weeks—you can get Kruschen at Clark's or any drug store in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back. Adv

KIWANIS NOTES By Heck

At Kiwanis luncheon this noon B. O. Curry, as chairman, assessor and speaker of the day, gave a very interesting talk on his trip to Mexi-c-o at an earlier date he was much impressed with the "beauties" and gave some very particular descriptions.
The schools are fine and well-
filled with all nationalities.
The visit to Hilo was probably the most interesting and one who has not seen this beautiful spot can hardly imagine it from description.
Palms and ferns form much of the vegetation.

R. F. Hackett of San Jose
will be the speaker next Tuesday, talking on recruiting,
past and present. H. C. Smith
will be chairman.

INSTANT
hot water washes
away your troubles
...quickly and easily

AT THIS TIME OF THE YEAR, you'll appreciate instant
hot water more than ever. You can keep things sweet and fragrant easier because you do not wait for water to heat. The time you save can be spent in healthful summer recreation. Then too, there are no fires to build, no hot kitchen when you heat water automatically.

Automatic Gas Water Heater Needs No Attention

Once you have an automatic gas water heater you'll never do without it. The thermostat turns the gas on and off and keeps the water at 140 degrees day and night. Just turn a faucet and draw a tub-ful or a basinful of hot water—no delay or bother. The water stays hot because the boiler is insulated. No gas wasted.

As for cost, instant hot water is the cheapest of any method of heating water in the home. It amounts to less than one-fifth of a cent per gallon.

Why not stop in today and see the automatic gas water heaters? One may be purchased now for a small sum down and the balance in monthly payments.

Local dealers also sell Automatic Gas Water Heaters
